ON THE CORNER

LITTLE FRED PALMER DEAD.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Palmer and children of Rusk came from Houston with the remains of their son, Little Fred, who died from an operation Thursday morning, and were guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. Y. Robinson while in town. The Palmer family were residents of Huntsville for a number of years, and Mr. Palmer was editor of the Post-Item, which he gave up to take a position with the penitentiary system and was later sent as warden to assume charge of the Rusk prison.

Little Fred, who was a remarkably bright boy, was taken to Houston for treatment sometime ago and died as a result of an operation to remove a growth on his brain, the after effect of a fall from a swing—Huntsville Correspondence in Houston Post.

Mr. and Mrs. Palmer formerly resided in this city. Mr. Palmer being one of the publishers of The Eagle. Their many friends here deeply sympathize with them in their great sorrow.

JESSE GAMMON ANNOUNCES.

The Eagle is authorized to announce J. H. (Jesse) Gammon Jr. as a candidate for alderman of Bryan, subject to the action of Saturday's city Democratic primary.

Mr. Gammon was raised in Bryan, is well known to the people, and believes that he is in every way capable of discharging the responsible duties of the office to which he aspires. He is an honorable young man, upright, ambitious and if honored with the office of alderman, will work only for the best interests of the city, having but one object and that the advancement of the city in every way possible.

He favors the extension of the water mains to all parts of the city as fast as the funds will permit. Also favors the extension of the city's other public utilities.

He favors a first class fire department and if elected will assist in making Bryan's second to none in Texas.

The Eagle takes pleasure in placing the name of Mr. Gammon before the Democratic voters of the city.

JOHN VICK IN RACE.

At the last moment Alderman John C. Vick yielded to the earnest solicitation of his friends and consented to become a candidate for re-election to the office of alderman. His announcement appears today, subject to the action of the city Democratic primary.

Mr. Vick has held the office of alderman for the past two years and has made an able, efficient and helpful member of the council. He believes the experience gained during the past term better qualifies him for the position, and that in future he will be able to give the city even better service than in the past.

Mr. Vick is a progressive and has always advocated a forward movement all along the line. He wants to see every public utility expanded and every other interest in the city advanced just as rapidly as it is possible to be done consistent with sound business principles. If favored with re-election, he promises a faithful, vigilant discharge of his every duty.

The Eagle commends Mr. Vick's candidacy to the Democratic voters for their consideration.

TONIGHT.

"The Shepherd of the Hills," a dramatization of Harold Bell Wright's best seller, will be the attraction at the Colonial Theatre tonight.

This story of the Ozark Mountains has proved very popular in novel form and as a play it is said that its success indicates it will exceed the popularity of the book.

Messrs. Gaskill and MacVitty, the producers, have given it a very beautiful scenic mounting, the mountains of the Ozarks lending themselves to the best in the scenic artist's art. The cast has been carefully selected; in fact, it is said to be unique in the matter of types. Special prices, 50c, 75c, $1.

"THE LITTLE MILLIONAIRE."

The following criticism of "The Little Millionaire," which will appear at the Colonial Friday, February 20, was taken from the Dallas News:

"The Little Millionaire," a George M. Cohan drama with the Cohanese atmosphere and the Cohanese velocity, was offered to a large and enjoyable audience at the Dallas Opera House last night. Bert Leigh, a favorite in this circuit, had the principal masculine lines in the piece, and Hazelle Burgess, entitled to be a favorite, had most of the feminine responsibility. But Frank Phelps as the Little Millionaire, William F. Scheller as the secretary, and Eugene Phelps as the Spooner Pers, were prominent in the picture and high lights, all of them.

Then there were Alevyn Marilyn, Clara Athy and Dot Karroll, also worthy in their undertakings. We liked to have forgotten Edward Kerr, the patient butler, not that he was an unnecessary adjunct, but because the French maid also forgot him and wed the secretary—and we wanted to feel about it like the French maid felt.

Well, this show, as Mr. Leigh admitted when he responded to a curtain call and "accepted the nomination"—well, this show is just to laugh at. If there were a serious line in it it would be spurious. But in addition to the laughing matter there was a bright little chorus, not too gaudy and not too gay, dressed in outfits that looked real fresh and tidy. The chorus chorused and the ballet halleted, all in good order and quite pretty to hear and to see. Then Frank Phelps and Miss Burgess did a dance turn that was a terrific chorale torchlight, and Messrs. Ackerman, Shuy, Friedel and Freyer rendered a quartet that was musical and fine all the way down from tenor to bass.

Altogether "The Little Millionaire" was a full-grown success, in its own way.

FOUR-LEGGED CHICKEN.

A sure enough four-legged chicken was sent to The Eagle office yesterday by one of the readers of the paper.

What we mean by a sure enough four-legged chicken, is that it was not a deformity or rather a malformation. All four of the legs were perfect in size and shape and looked as if he might have used one set in walking forward and the other when going backward. Two of the legs were in exactly the same place and position as the legs of all well regulated chickens, while the other two grew a little further up on the breast, but were the correct distance apart and correct size according to standard plans and specifications. The young chick lived to be eight days old and evidently walked himself to death because of his extra pedal equipment.

NEWS FROM SAM HOUSTON NORMAL

Brazos County Young Lady Attending the Normal Writes Her Home Paper.

Huntsville, Tex., Feb. 16, 1914.

To The Bryan Eagle:

The members of the Press Club, a students' organization of the Sam Houston Normal, are planning to send to their home papers an occasional news letter telling of things of interest connected with our school. We believe the people of our home communities would like to know what is going on here—what this institution is doing to turn out good teachers for the public schools of Texas.

The enrollment this year has reached 700. The third term begins March 16, when others will probably enter. The thirty-third year's work of this institution will close on the 26th of May. On the 2d of June the fourteenth summer session will open. In addition to the regular faculty of thirty-three members, Superintendents B. B. Cobb of Marshall, A. E. Day of Garrison, C. G. Green of Rockdale and Mrs. H. C. Heath of Dallas will teach the summer school.

The chemistry and biology departments have been removed from the "Austin College" building into two temporary "shacks" to make room for additions to the practice school, which is being enlarged and fully equipped. This department has been in successful operation for two years. There are now two teachers, with about fifty pupils. The teaching force will be increased soon so that all grades up to the ninth will be provided to give the students of the normal a chance to practice teaching before they are graduated.

One pleasant and profitable feature of the normal school is the lyceum course. We will have eight numbers this year. Four have already come, and the fifth, on February 21, will be the famous author and lecturer, Jacob Riis, in one of his lectures on social conditions in American cities.

By the beginning of the third term we will be using the new gymnasium. This is a modern fireproof structure three stories high. It is built of brick and reinforced concrete, decorated with concrete stone and marble. On the ground floor are shower baths and a swimming pool, with two large locker rooms. The gymnasium proper is on the second floor, and the third contains the gallery of the gymnasium and a class room. The cost of this building is about $25,000.

Under the management of the physical education department of this school, a rural school game contest for the rural schools of Walker County has been planned and will be held on the normal playgrounds March 8. It is only for grades below the ninth. Ten events are planned. Handkerchief relay, leap frog race, dodge ball, etc. Prof. Esill will give as a prize to the school whose teams make the most points a large Texas flag.

With best wishes to the readers of The Eagle and my friends at home, Yours very truly,

COMA GANDY.

HEAVY FERTILIZER MOVEMENT.

Dr. G. S. Fraps, State chemist of Texas at the Agricultural and Mechanical College, was in the city Tuesday in attendance on the demonstration agents' meeting. Dr. Fraps stated that the movement of fertilizers during the month of January is the heaviest yet recorded. This may be in part due to the unusually warm January weather, but present prospects are for the largest consumption of fertilizers Texas has had yet. The amount used last season was 75,500 tons.—Houston Post.
